D9.1 Summary

A report outlining the scenario framework, storylines and drivers
The storylines outlined here are the product of a process of refining existing and well-used SRES storylines through stakeholder engagement as well as a review of contemporary literature pertinent to the future of European land use. Four SRES storylines have been adapted but also include eight more deviations from each of those markers. The total variation in policy outcomes, societal involvement in sustainability, economic policy and technological advancements have provided a diverse and plausible range of land use outcomes. The detailed summaries of the storylines in the text and the appendix capture the range of uncertainties; trade-offs and synergies are also detailed.

The involvement of stakeholders, and the use of contemporary scientific literature in the scenarios process have hopefully enabled the storylines to attain good levels of credibility and legitimacy. The final goal of saliency can be assessed at a later stage with the further development of the Visions and Pathways work packages (when expert stakeholder views are sought) as well as in the final dissemination of the VOLANTE project work.

Figure: The four main marker storylines (red) and their deviations positioned across global/regional and adoption of sustainable lifestyle axes